Weymouth Adds New Music and Gardening Program

Charlotte Public Schools' Weymouth Child Development Center strives to provide it's little ones with a wide variety of hands on experiences to really spark learning and development. They encourage physical activity with Zumba, literacy with their story times, and exploration with process art. Now with the addition of a music and gardening program, they can focus on creativity, science, and nutrition as well. Mr. Mitch, a former Early Childhood Teacher, is joining the Weymouth family to play music, sing songs, and work with the children on setting up a garden. Mr. Mitch is very passionate about music and gardening and is very excited to share these talents with the children. The first program was last Friday, where he introduced himself with songs on his guitar and began the discussion of starting seeds during the next visit. He will be coming to Weymouth every other Friday and will be going to both Toddler and Preschool rooms. It is an exciting program that will benefit all the children involved by adding one more hands on experience to their day!
