CHRIS HUTTON JOINS CHS TEAM!

Charlotte High School is excited to welcome Chris Hutton as a new physical education and health teacher. Chris will also be guiding the varsity boys' basketball team to victory this winter as the new head coach. Chris earned a bachelor's degree from Albion College, where he also played on the basketball team, and he earned his teaching certificate from Grand Valley State University. So far, Chris really enjoys the fact that at CHS, the people, culture, and attitude are all about striving to be great, and he likes the fact that people work together to never just be satisfied. Chris has already done a great job in working with students academically and athletically, and he definitely contributes to CHS's culture of excellence! Go Orioles! Please help us welcome Chris to the Charlotte Public School family!
